

Dynamic Opportunities - Youth

Dynamic Opportunities consists of 3 online courses specifically designed for those youth re-entering the workforce.

These courses are designed to provide youth with tools to navigate the world of work and be prepared to answer questions regarding disclosure, advocating for themselves and learning the soft skills needed to maintain employment. Youth are also given an opportunity to take action and create a plan for their career path.

Studies show that justice-involved youth who receive job training and placement services are more likely to be successful in finding and sustaining employment and less likely to reoffend.

Dynamic Opportunities Professional Development

Preparing to support court-involved youth to start their working lives or re-entering the workforce requires an expert tool belt. Not only should you understand the population you are working with, but you would also need to have set strategies to help individuals overcome challenges and barriers they may face.

This course supports those who are actively working and engaging with youth to help coach and empower them so they will succeed in obtaining long term sustainable employment.

Course bundle includes:

- Working with an individual with a Criminal History
- Ex-offender Job Development Series
- Empowering the Career Seekers Through Coaching
